

Fun with Frankenstein

Join us for a fun set of literacy and writing activities!

Did you know that Frankenstein was written by a teenager?

Mary Shelley wrote the story of Frankenstein as part of a friendly writing competition among friends.

Be inspired by her writing to both read more (and make some lovely bookmarks)

In this printable pack you will find:

- Two Corner Bookmark Designs

Educational benefits of these activities:

- Learn some basic facts about Mary Shelley and Frankenstein.
- Get creative coloring and assembling our bookmarks – a great time to hone in on fine motor skills needed to both color and cut. As well as some lovely zen time to let your mind wander.
- Once completed, use your new bookmarks to mark your space in your favourite novels or to help keep track of school work.
